" . . . Be ye kind one to another . . . " - Eph. 4:32.

F Major James Rowe, 1915.

T. J. Denson, 1935.

1. Won-der-ful things of men are said When they have passed a-way; Flow- ers a- dom the nar- row bed . . . . . O - ver the life-less clay.

2. Life is the time for words of praise, Hands clasp with friendly smile, Bless- ings to cheer a pil-grim's days, Are al-ways well worth-while. Give

Give me the ros - es

Give me the ros-es while I live, Something to cheer me on; Use - less the flow - ers you may give, . . . . . Af - ter the soul is gone. gone.

Give me the ros - es while I live, Something to cheer me on, . . . . . Useless the flow-ers you may give, me the ros - es while I live, . . . . . Something to cheer me on; Use - less the flow - ers you may give, . . . . . Af - ter the soul is gone. gone.
